A Word or Two

In preparing these By-Laws for publication, it was thought best to include all resolutions adopted by the Lodge, and now effective, and a list of all members.

A few suggestions have been added touching sundry points of Masonic law and usage, and the laws and customs relating to candidates and to Masonic funerals, which it is hoped will be of value to young, and not without interest to older members.

The Library regulations, and a list of books available for use of members is also included.

C. H. W.

Good Hope, W. Va., December 19, 1914.

A Few Suggestions

All reports of committees must be made in writing.

Profanity and intemperance are grave Masonic offenses, subjecting the indulger therein to severe penalties.

It is unlawful for any Mason to reveal to any person, whether a Mason or profane, how he voted on a petition, to question the ballot, or in any way to reveal its secrets.

Apply to the Secretary for blank petitions, committee reports, or any other blank forms. The Lodge provides all necessary stationery, postage, etc., for the use of committees.

Make all checks for monies due the Lodge from any source whatever payable to JACKSON LODGE No. 35, A. F. & A. M., and not to the Secretary personally, nor to any other person.

Don't forget that the regular communications of the Lodge are held on the Saturday night BEFORE the third Sunday in each month, and, therefore, sometimes fall on the SECOND Saturday. Regular communications can never be earlier than the 14th, nor later than the 20th of the month, except the Anniversary of St. John, the Baptist, which falls on the 24th of June.

This Lodge is entitled to six copies of the yearly Proceedings of the Grand Lodge, which are available to all members under the Library regulations. Additional copies for private use may be obtained of the Grand Secretary, John M. Collins, Charleston, W. Va., at $1.00 each.

Candidates

Candidates must sign their names IN FULL, not by initials, or part initials, but IN FULL. This requirement must be insisted upon, as it is a part of the Masonic law. The Lodge cannot lawfully receive or act on a petition unless it is in the form, and filled out in the manner prescribed by the Grand Lodge.

Candidates who have ever lived out of this State must give references; and those who live, or who have ever lived at a distance, or out of the jurisdiction of this Lodge, should also give references. The names and addresses of references must accompany the petition, and may be written on the back thereof.

At least two members of the Lodge must recommend a candidate by signing his petition, but a large number of signers is unnecessary. Ten dollars must accompany the petition, and the candidate's personal check, made payable to the Lodge, is preferable to currency.

The qualifications of a candidate are these:

"The person who desires to be made a Mason must be a man—no woman nor eunuch; free born, neither a slave nor the son of a bondwoman; a believer in God and a future existence; of moral conduct; capable of reading and writing; not deformed or dismembered, but hale and sound in his physical conformation, having his right limbs, as a man ought to have."—Mackey.

To which might be added:

He must have no mental or physical defect which might prevent him from learning the art, or from conforming literally with the requirements of the several degrees.

He must exhibit a strong likelihood of being serviceable to the Lodge and his fellow creatures, not a drone or cipher, but a useful worker and a willing helper, agreeable to all members of the Lodge and obnoxious to none.

He must be of good report, and his character must be above reproach.

Funerals

It is the duty of every Mason, when notified, to attend funeral services conducted by his Lodge.

All members should come directly to the Lodge room at the hour appointed.

Every Mason should bring his Text Book, as it contains the funeral service.

Dress soberly. Dark clothes and dark ties, when convenient, are to be preferred.

Remember, that the Lodge is at labor from its opening until it returns to the Lodge room and is closed.

Remember, that no Mason can enter or leave the procession at any point without the permission of the Worshipful Master, obtained through the Marshal.

If not already supplied, Masons should provide themselves at the Lodge room with a plain white linen or lambskin apron, with a band of crepe around the left arm, above the elbow, or a crepe rosette on the left shoulder, and a sprig of evergreen on the left breast.

It is the province—if not the duty—of the Worshipful Master, through the Marshal, to refuse any Mason a place in the procession and a part in the ceremonies, if, without reasonable cause, he fails to appear at the Lodge room, but attempts to join the procession at some other point.

The reason for this is, that the Lodge must be opened, members instructed as to their duties and deportment, officers appointed, and the procession formed before leaving the Lodge room. Clearly, it is impossible for all these things to be properly done if Masons are not present at the opening of the Lodge, but are permitted to struggle in at various times and places along the route.

It requires a large number of Masons to properly officer and form a funeral procession; and a small and irregular procession detracts from the dignity and solemnity of this most impressive public Masonic ceremony.

Masons should come directly to the Lodge room at the appointed hour, and, throughout the whole ceremony, conduct themselves with that quiet, respectful and dignified demeanor, which is the mark of a true Mason, and which they would desire manifested at their own funeral.

Requirements for Masonic Burial

“The requirements to be fulfilled by a brother to entitle him to Masonic interment are these:

“1. He must be a MASTER MASON.

“2. He must be in good standing, that is, not laboring under any penalty of suspension or expulsion.

“3. He must be affiliated with some Lodge, but not necessarily the Lodge within whose jurisdiction he dies.

“His death must be honorable and in the course of nature, or if by accident, an unavoidable one. Death in a brawl, in a duel, in a fit of intoxication, or by the public hangman will deprive the departed brother of his title to this honor.

“5. It must be known that in his lifetime he desired Masonic interment.”—Macoy.

It is a law of the Grand Lodge of West Virginia that a Masonic Lodge cannot hold a funeral service jointly with any other organization, or share in any wise in burial services conducted by any other body, not even Royal Arch Masons, Knights Templar, etc. There is no place in the Masonic service or procession for such participation. However, there is no objection to other bodies acting as an escort.

Every Mason who desires Masonic interment should notify the Secretary of his Lodge, or the Secretary of the Lodge under whose jurisdiction he lives, that such is his desire. He should also inform his family of his desire for Masonic interment, and acquaint them with the Masonic law in regard to non-participation with other bodies. This will insure prompt Masonic assistance in the funeral arrangements, and may prevent the embarrassment of having other bodies invited to participate in the service.

The Lodge Library

The Lodge Library, while small, comprises a wide range of Masonic information. It offers great opportunities to members to inform themselves in Masonic usage, history, and law, and “to improve in Masonic knowledge," generally. It is hoped that each member will avail himself of its benefits.

Contributions of money, and works on Masonic, educational, and kindred subjects are earnestly solicited. Each donor will be given proper credit for his contribution, which should be handed to the Librarian, who will give a receipt.

Members should furnish the Librarian with the names of any new or desirable books, which, in their opinion, should be added to the Library; that such books may be included in future orders. The name and address of the publisher should be given when possible.

Members should be careful not to keep a book overtime, as others may be waiting for it. In case a book wanted is out, the member applying for same should leave his name with the Librarian, who will supply the book in turn as soon as it comes in. Members desiring copies of the Grand Lodge Proceedings for their private libraries may procure same of the Grand Secretary at $1.00 each.

Library Resolution

The following resolution adopted December 17, 1910, and amended December 19, 1914, comprises all the rules and regulations governing the establishment and use of the Library:

The Lodge Library shall be in charge of the Secretary who shall be, EX-OFFICIO, Lodge Librarian. He shall keep a permanent record of all books or other publications now a part of, or that may hereafter be

1. No book shall be kept from the Library longer than ONE MONTH, unless renewed.

2. The original time may be extended one month at the discretion of the Librarian.

6. All books are subject at any time to recall by the Librarian, and must be returned at once on receipt of notice.

7. Members violating any of these regulations shall forfeit all rights and privileges of the Library.

At the first stated communication in October of each year, a standing Library committee of three members shall be appointed by the Worshipful Master, which committee shall purchase additions to the Library to an amount not less than the sum of all Library receipts for the year, plus ten cents for each member of the Lodge in good standing, such amount to be drawn from the treasury of the Lodge.

The following books are now available under the foregoing regulations, and may be obtained by applying to the Librarian:
